Agreement In Automobile Strike May Be Near

(By the Associated Press)

Government officials, busy attempting to end current strife on the industrial front, today faced fresh labor troubles which threatened disruption of the country's telephone service and work stoppages in vital industries.

The labor picture was gloomy on most fronts, but Special Mediator James F. Dewey said in Detroit that an agreement between General Motors and the CIO United Automobile Workers probably will be reached "sometime between now and midnight."

Continuing labor disputes kept idle an estimated 970,000 with no indications of immediate settlement in most of the major strikes.

The number was the lowest in more than a month but new controversies appeared nearing a head in the telephone, electrical, coal and shipping industries.

A strike affecting 250,000 telephone workers has been set for March 7 by the National Federation of Telephone Workers' executive board. However, the independent union officials said they will continue to meet with the government officials in efforts to settle the wage dispute.

The 1,500,000 residents in the rich Pittsburgh industrial district were threatened with the second strike this month by 3400 power company workers.

In San Francisco, 15,000 CIO dock workers voted to strike "on or before April 1" in a dispute over wages.

The possibility of a dispute over wages in the coal industry arose as John L. Lewis issued a call for a meeting March 11 of his AFL United Mine Workers policy committee.

Detroit's milk strike continued and as thousands of gallons of milk were dumped by farmers, an estimated 750,000 residents went without supplies.

Displaced Persons Biggest Problem

HERFORD, Germany, Feb. 22. (AP)—One of the difficult problems of the allied forces of occupation in Germany has been the position of the large number of displaced persons from other countries.

These "DPS", as the British soldiers call them, were mostly Hitler's slave labor and prisoners of war. In this zone there originally were 2,450,000 who had to be housed, clothed, fed and kept warm. A million of these were Russians and another half million were Poles, the rest being mainly Italians, Dutch and French.

British authorities have repatriated all but 450,000 and would repatriate the rest gladly, but most of them don't want to go home at this time. The majority are Poles and are holding back mainly for economic reasons, although some say they are fearful on political grounds.

Authorities expect most of them will be ready to go back in the spring when the weather is good, but in the meantime they represent a half million mouths to feed in a Germany which already is struggling with a food ,fuel and housing shortage.

The British are prepared to repatriate all DPS as fast as they ask for it but there is no inclination to force anybody to go home against his will.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Settlement of the steel strike may be followed immediately by WALKOUT another labor dispute which can paralyze this key industry and every housing project in the nation. The new walkout may occur in such an ideal bottleneck as the factories and kilns which manufacture brick for homes and refractory silica essential for lining every furnace or boiler.

The unions involved have not called a strike so far because so long as the steel mills are closed down by the current dispute, it would not be to the advantage to stage a concurrent demonstration. But as soon as the major controversy has been ended, they may bottleneck the auxiliary industry.

It is probable that steel mills, locomotives, ships and similar industries have a sufficient supply of linings for their blast furnaces and boilers to fill their needs for a month or more. But the leaders of this group of workers, who are organized by the American Federation of Labor, John L. Lewis' District 50 and the C. I. O. declare that they can close down these key production and transportation activities within 30 days. The factories are located chiefly in Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois and Missouri.

BRICKS The brick makers have asked for a minimum wage of 90 cents an hour, as against an average of 76, and for a general increase of $2 a day. They filed their strike notice on December 29, 1945, and sample votes have revealed overwhelming sentiment for a strike.

The shortage of this material is so acute that Stabilization Director John C. Collett recently called in representatives of the three labor organizations. He told them that there is a present need for 4,000,000,000 bricks for home construction alone, and that the output has fallen to about 200,000,00 a month because of the scarcity of workers in this laborious and low-paid field.

While bricks are not an important factor in the final cost of building, they are essential for foundations and for other portions of a house or factory. Any strike at this time, when so many mills require repairs because of war-time wear and tear, would threaten orderly reconversion quite as seriously as a steel, coal or railroad stoppage.

DETRACKED Administration officials have shown amazing unwareness and indifference to this danger, despite Stabilization Director Collett's intervention. Indeed, the amiable Collett satisfied the labor spokesman that he had only a small grasp of the wage-price problem. Other administration experts have been too much occupied with the motor, meat and steel dis-

Wallace Elks, Facing Housing Problem For State Convention, Will Ask Public To "Open Their Homes" for Visitors

Plans for the annual convention of the Idaho State Elks association to be held in Wallace June 27, 28 and 29 were discussed last night at a meeting of the committee in charge and it was decided to make immediate appeal to lodge members and others to "throw open their homes" to accommodate the 1000 or more lodgemen and their wives expected for the celebration.

Wallace hotels are crowded with permanent tenants and it will be necessary to obtain rooms in private homes, committee members stated. It is also planned to house some of the visitors in Mullan and Kellogg and if necessary, an attempt will be made to bring in several Pullman sleeping cars. J. A. Bever is chairman of the housing committee.

W. C. Rullman and Wes Lieb are co-chairmen of the convention committee, which also includes the following members:

June 29 to be Big Day.

As tentatively outlined, Saturday, June 29, will be the "big day" of the convention with the parade to be held early in the afternoon and a barbecue for a crowd expected to exceed 2000 at the Pottsville picnic grounds east of Mullan early in the evening. Norm Thue's orchestra will furnish music for the convention dance scheduled as the windup event of the three-day program.

Arrangements are being made to bring in an "out-of-town" concern to supervise street decorating and also to construct floats for firms and individuals desiring to have such entries in the parade, which Elks hope to make the most colorful event of its kind ever held in north Idaho.

At least a half dozen bands and bugle corps will be here from Idaho, Washington and Montana lodges and others will send marching delegations.

Other events on the program will include the north and south Idaho ritualistic finals; a memorial service honoring Idaho's Elk dead; trapshooting, golf, softball and bowling tournaments; a program by the Wallace Elks Glee club and other entertainment.

E. M. Grant, Lewiston, is president of the state Elks association.

License Plates Are Received Here

The county assessor's office yesterday afternoon received the new 1946 license plates, which must be on cars which now have Idaho licenses by April 1.

Landis E. Smith, state policeman, declared today that cars with out of state licenses must secure new plates immediately.

Only one plate is being furnished for each machine, and Assessor W. H .Herrick said passenger cars must display the plates in the rear of the machine and trucks in front .

James Bean, Mullan, has been named license deputy.

Jaycees Plan Youth Program

Plans for an extensive and continuing youth welfare program were outlined at a meeting last night of the Wallace Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The program was described by Carl Taylor, chairman of the youth welfare committee, who pointed out that next month is set aside by junior chambers of commerce for youth programs. Special emphasis will be placed on observance of this month, Taylor said, in order to focus attention upon the Jaycees' continuing program.

Jaycees will assist in the observance of National Youth Week, with Boy Scout work, the Youth Center and at Ferguson lodge.

Possibility of sponsoring a Boy Scout troop was discussed as was the possibility of organizing neighborhood playgrounds in the city this summer. Other organizations will be contacted in an effort to promote the latter program.

In order to bring parents within the scope of the youth emphasis program it was decided to have a program to be held in the Youth Center, possibly in conjunction with a field day.

The Jaycees also heard Barent Burhans, field representative of the division of social protection, federal security agency. This agency is helping to combat prostitution and Burhans has appeared before a number of groups in the community in connection with this project.

Requests for Funds Mount

BOISE, Feb. 22. (AP)—Skyrocketing requests for appropriations for state departments had passed the $5,500,000 mark today and new demands still are coming in for consideration of the special session of the legislature opening Monday.

Although requests by the various state agencies may be pared in the governor's office or by the legislature itself, they represent a significant trend, in the opinion of state Budget Director Al Reading.

Reading, to whom departmental requests are first submitted, said preliminary estimate of the total of requests was $4,000,000, approximately equal to the surplus in the state general fund against which appropriations may be charged without additional revenue being raised.

Recently, however, some departments have submitted revisions of their requirements from the special session, and in most instances these have been increases over the original requests.

'Keep Idaho Green' Committee Formed

BOISE, Feb. 22. (AP)—Protection of Idaho's timber stands against fire is the purpose of the "Keep Idaho Green" organization, of which Governor Arnold Williams is the new honorary chairman.

The organization, sponsored by the state Junior Chamber of Commerce, is one with which the governor said he hopes all Idahoans will cooperate.

Because of the importance of the lumbering industry to the state and the annual toll of forest fires "every citizen has a stake in this program," Williams said in accepting the chairmanship.

D. A. V. Chapters Will Meet Tonight

Wallace and Kellogg chapters of the Disabled American Veterans will hold a joint meeting at the Union-Legion hall in Kellogg at 8 o'clock tonight to honor Grant Hess, Boise, state department commander of the D. A. V., who will be the principal speaker of the evening.

There will also be a delegation from Coeur d'Alene.

DIVORCE SUITS

Oscar Olsen filed suit yesterday afternoon to divorce Esther Olsen, alleging extreme cruelty. They were married in Everett, Wash., December 22, 1928. Helen Sherman would divorce Walter Sherman on grounds of cruelty. They were married in Kalispell June 26, 1915.

Victory Gardeners Given Task

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 .(AP)—The nation's victory gardeners were called on today to duplicate their yeoman war-time service and help relieve the post-war global food shortages.

The appeal came from President Truman who said urgent needs abroad "for food from this country emphasize the importance of continued effort to add to our total food supply."

The stringent food outlook also was stressed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson in a simultaneous statement late yesterday. He summoned the nation's farmers to increase their 1946 foodstuff planting by more than 3,200,000 acres.

ACF Levels Blast at Pocatello Police

POCATELLO, Feb. 22. (AP)—Pocatello police were the target today of criticism by the county allied civic forces over liquor law enforcement.

The civic forces group said police failed "to live up to their oath of office to enforce the laws of the state as well as city, and arrest those guilty of liquor law violation.

HELD FOR OFFICERS

Guy Parson is being held in the city jail for Butte sheriff's officers. He allegedly is wanted on a bad check charge.

CHUNGKING, Feb. 22. (AP)—The three-story downtown office and book store of the communist New China Daily News was wrecked today.

Communists charged the intruders were Kuomintang (National) party secret service men.

Two employes were hospitalized with serious injuries. Meantime more than 10,000 Chinese students marched through Chungking streets, demanding that Russia "quit Manchuria" and asking that communists answer five questions, including "who is organizing puppet regimes in Manchuria?"

Unidentified intruders also wrecked the business offices of the "Democratic Daily, mouthpiece of the democratic league which has been protesting government policy in Manchuria.

Five Chinese newspapers here carried a joint protest by 20 nationally known scholars calling the Yalta secret agreement the most unjustified in modern diplomatic history.

They charged that the late President Roosevelt traded Manchuria for Russian support in the Japanese war and declared that his "tragic mistake" could not be excused despite his contributions toward victory.

Amid the spreading "quit Manchuria" clamor, several newspapers reported that the Chinese taking-over process there was at a ocmplete standstill.

Dispatches from Peiping said a delegation representing the newly established Eastern Mongolian republic planned to fly to Chungking shortly to seek the Chinese government's recognition "as an independent state."

New Cardinals Receive Rings

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 22. (AP)—Twenty-seven new cardinals created in a five-day cycle of unparalleled religious pageantry joined with their colleagues in the sacred college today at a final ceremony at which they received the last symbol of their rank—their rings.

Henceforth, they will be on an equal footing with the old cardinals in transacting all the business of the sacred college.

This morning's consistory, like the first one held Monday at which 32 new cardinals from 19 nations and six continents of the world were created, was closed to all save Pope Pius XII and the princes of the church.

It was marked by the time-honored ritual of "the closing of the mouth" and "the opening of the mouth," symbolic of the cardinalitial duty to counsel the pontiff and keep the secrets of their office.

Western G.O.P. To Draft Policy

On such action, said republican Vice Chairman Ezra R. Whitla of Coeur d'Alene, "depends the hope of the nation."

Whitla spoke at opening sessions of a two-day conference to which republicans of 11 western states, Alaska and Hawaii were invited. Principal objective was the drafting of a statement of the party's position on western problems, to be added to a declaration on national policy prepared by republicans in congress.

"The policy they have adopted," Whitla said in his prepared address, "we have the right and should add such things as may be particulaly fitting to our needs as distinguished from the rest of the country, always keeping in mind that the great questions of foreign policy, national solvency and honest government affect us all. . . .

"It will take the work of strong hands and hearts to stem the ever rising tide of bureaucrats ,stop the waste of our substances and increasing debt, and long and hard may be the road of repayment, but the people of the west are used to facing hardship and privations."

Whitla charged that the office of price administration is "directly responsible for the failure to get reconversion under way and a program of production started."

Thievery Widespread In Port of New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. (AP)—The New York Times said today thievery had become so widespread in the port of New York that federal agencies had joined in a concerted drive to combat it.

Estimates of losses run into the millions of dollars annually, the Times said.

Price of Meat May Be Increased

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. (AP)—An OPA official said today the price of meat probably will be raised as a result of the government-recommended wage increase for packinghouse workers.

Frank S. Ketcham, assistant OPA general counsel, told the senate banking committee that Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles had not reached a final decision, then added:

"As of this time he has decided the price of meat probably should be increased to take care of the wage increase."

CHARGES DROPPED

OSLO, Feb .22. (AP)—Attorney General Svend Arntzen said today government charges of treason against the Nobel prize-winning novelist, Knut Hamsun, had been dropped because "the accused suffers from mental deficiencies brought about by old age."

Flashes Of Life

FARRAGUT, Feb. 22. (AP)—The navy has discovered there's a hosiery shortage—

A new order at Farragut naval center authorizes WAVES to wear slacks as an "optional working uniform."

The concession was credited to the hosiery shortage which has barred WAVE legs in violation of a navy order listing stockings as a necessary part of official uniforms.

BOMBAY, Feb. 22. (AP)—City-wide civilian riots touched off by a seamen's mutiny flamed in Bombay today amid machine gun fire. British troops, planes and warships converged on the city of 1,400,000 which A. E. Caffin, deputy police commissioner, declared to be in a state of "absolute rebellion."

The royal Indian navy mutiny continued here but at Karachi parachute troopers with artillery fired for 25 minutes on the H. M. I. S. Hindustan, 1000-ton sloop seized by rebellious seamen, and forced the mutineers to run up the white flag.

In Bombay rifle and machine gun fire crackled in many sections against mobs which beat, stoned and knifed their victims, set fire to many police and military trucks and private cars, smashed store and bank windows and went on a looting spree.

Unofficial figures indicated the death toll in today's street fighting might total 50 or more, with upwards of 50 wounded. One hospital alone had a list of 30 dead, most of whom were listed as "dead on arrival."

Hundreds of British Tommies poured into the city in trucks and armored cars with orders to fire as occasion demanded. A heavy force of bomber planes arrived at airfields ringing the city. In the harbor mutinous Indians still in control of a flotilla of 10 small warcraft were faced by the advance guard of a strong royal navy force ordered here to put down the mutiny. Heavy artillery was being sent to the city.

(Prime Minister Attlee in London told the house of commons that the all-India congress party had officially disclaimed participation in the mutiny, "but left wing elements and communists are trying to work up sympathy." The mutineers have been told that only unconditional surrender will be accepted, he said. A British cruiser shortly would arrive on the scene, he added.)

War Secretary Philip Mason estimated that nearly 12,000 Indian sailors were involved in the mutiny.

Says Big Nations Do Not Want to Settle Differences

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 22. (AP)—John Foster Dulles, member of the United States delegation to the UNO, said today that the first meetings of the United Nations made it perfectly clear that the big nations "do not feel it very important to settle their differences."

In an address prepared for the annual Washington day exercises at Princeton university which awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of laws, Dulles declared:

"I have listened for hours to representatives of the security council accusing others and defending themselves. Most of the time it seemed the members were using the council as a forum where through propaganda and clever maneuvers they could score a national gain at the expense of others."

The situation, he said, was disturbing. "We have no time to waste. The pattern of the future is already taking form, and the form is not a pleasing one. It resembles much the pattern of the past."

Group Approves Two Subsidies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. (AP)—Senate committees approved today extra subsidy money for meat and flour and the appointment of O. Max Gardner, former governor of North Carolina, as undersecretary of the treasury.

Senator Pepper (Dem., Fla.) announced formation of a national committee to get backing in this country for Greek reparations claims arising from the war.

The senate labor committee started hearings on a house-passed strike control bill.

House members showed no intention of abandoning a drive to seek an international ban on peace-time conscription before congress gets around to voting on the controversial question of universal military training.

Although the senate naval committee was in recess until next week, the fight over the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be undersecretary of the navy remained a prime discussion topic.

A number of senate democrats who fear a party-splitting fight if Pauley's nomination reaches the floor were reported pushing strategy to get the California oil man's name withdrawn.

House Bill Aimed At Petrillo

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (AP)—A congressional decision on how far to go in trying to curb James C. Petrillo's powers over radio broadcasting rested largely today with a senate-house conference committee.

The house last night passed, 222 to 43, a bill aimed directly at authority wielded by the fiery president of the American Federation of Musicions.

The senate approved a much milder measure on the same subject a year ago. Accordingly, the task of drafting legislation acceptable to both chambers is set to go to a joint committee.

Representative Lea (Dem., Calif.) author of the house-passed bill, predicted the senators would go along with most of the provisions of his measure.

Argentine Police Charge Plot Nipped

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 22. (AP)—Argentine police said today that a number of men had been arrested and a large quantity of arms seized in what was described as "a terroristic plot" to cause trouble before the Sunday general election.

Authorities asserted that captured documents showed the group planned a "terroristic" series of uprisings in Buenos Aires.

The police did not immediately identify the group with any political party, but contended that among those held were several known to be communists.

The communist party has been supporting Jose Tamborini, opponent of Colonel Juan Peron for the presidency.

Solon Demands Atomic Controls

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. (AP)—Congress, uneasy about the implications of the Canadian-Soviet espionage row, heard a new demand today that it hurry up and do something about framing the nation's future program for atomic energy.

Senator Hickenlooper (Rep., Iowa) told reporters it is "imperative" that atomic legislation be enacted "without delay."

This served a pointed reminder on both senate and house which for several months have had measures pending to provide for the future study ,development and harnessing of atomic energy.

Hickenlooper did not refer to Moscow's acknowledgment that soviet representatives had secured "insignificant" secret data in Canada relating to atomic energy.

His statement, however, came after Secretary of State Byrnes assured the senate atomic energy committee yesterday that the state department was not aware of any American officials implicated in the Canadian investigations, and that it had "suppressed" no prosecutions connected with A-bomb spying in this country.

Toastmasters to Hold Contest Here

The Wallace Toastmasters' club will be host for the 1946 annual speech contest for area Toastmasters April 23, it was announced today. The area includes clubs from Sandpoint, Priest River, Coeur d'Alene and Farragut.

R. W. Lottridge, president of the Wallace club, has named the following committee chairmen: Norman Johnson, arrangements; Charles Tilford and J. E. McKay, program; John Lovelace, finances.

Byron Sewell was toastmaster for the meeting Wednesday evening. All members spoke on the subject "My Job." Guests were A. J. Nelson, Walter Grieser and Arthur Nelson.

Many Judges Revoke Liquor Permits

BOISE, Feb. 22. (AP)—E. P. Horsfall, superintendent of liquor dispensary, said today that many local judges in the state now are revoking the state liquor permits of persons arrested on charges of drunkenness.

Horsfall urged all judges to use the forms supplied them by the dispensary in order that compiled lists of persons whose licenses have been revoked may be sent to all state liquor stores to prevent the persons from obtaining other licenses.

Horsfall said the law provides that in cases of permit confiscation the individuals can not obtain another liquor permit for at least a year.

GIRL INJURED

Sarah Jane Hawley, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hawley, Wallace, suffered severe body bruises yesterday while playing basketball at a local school. A group of players "piled on top of her" during the game. She is hospitalized.

THE ARISTOCRATIC REVOLUTIONIST

"In all the history of the United States ,whom do you regard as one or three of the greatest men who ever lived in this country?" Answers to that question asked in a recent poll by the National Opinion Research Center, gave Franklin D. Roosevelt 61 per cent of the votes, Abraham Lincoln 57 per cent, and George Washington 46 per cent.

Thus it develops that, on the 214th anniversary of his birth, the famous tribute to the first president may have to be changed to read: "First in war, first in peace, and third in the hearts of his countrymen."

It is idle but interesting to wonder which, if any, of these three men would be included in the answers to a similar question two centuries hence. It would be interesting to observe again, in this case, how valid is the estimate of a great man's contemporaries, and how durable are a man's deeds as compared with his words.

If Washington's fame and memory have dimmed somewhat with the passing years, it may be due to two factors: He was a doer rather than a writer or speaker; and he still suffers in the public mind from a sort of hangover of saintliness, the result of contemporary adulation which hardly permitted him to be presented as human.

Washington has become a pale, berobed figure in marble, or a stylized hero on a rearing horse. Actually, of course, he had a full measure of earthiness. He liked cards, hunting and the theater. He sampled the product of his own distillery. He was from one of Virginia's oldest and "best" families, and was one of the richest Americans of his day.

There was every reason for a lesser man than Washington to be satisfied with the pre-revolutionary status quo. A fight for independence promised him no material gain. But he joined the fight. And for 20 years he gave lavishly of his strength, wisdom and wealth to lead the struggle which transformed his countrymen from a ragged, impoverished, dispirited army of rebellious colonists to the citizens of a vigorous young nation founded upon principles which most of the world continues to admire.

Washington longed for the east and peacefulness of the life which was his heritage. Unlike Franklin Roosevelt, a man of similar heritage, he entered and remained in public life with frequently expressed diffidence.

Washington was not such a controversial personality as the other two presidents whom present-day Americans have chosen above him as our greatest men. Perhaps if he had been, some lingering heat of contention would have aroused more warmth of public affection now.

The force and accomplishments and living memory of Roosevelt are still about us. Lincoln seems sure of enduring fame, if nowhere else than in literature, where his humanity of thought and beauty of style are unparalleled in political writing. But Washington deserves to be remembered and blessed for something more than a day away from work on his birthday.

That the governmental structure of the United States was ever started, and that it has endured without fundamental alteration is largely to the credit of this man, perhaps the most reluctant and most aristocratic revolutionist in history.

The Whirligig

The manufacturers have admitted that there is some merit in the demand for higher pay, but they insist that they can not afford to increase without a grant of higher prices for their product. The ceiling on bricks was $16 a thousand in the 1917-1918 conflict and is now only a dollar higher. But the machinery for bringing the disagreement over wages and prices before the proper federal agencies is so cumbersome that it has been sidetracked.

STALEMATE The only method for getting before the wage stabilization board is for a manufacturer to agree to an increase in pay. In that event the employer has the right to ask the office of price administration for a higher return on his product.

But so far the manufacturers have refused to set this machinery in motion by entering a formal agreement for an increase in wages. Thus the controversy is deadlocked.

Although the union representatives explained the reasons for this stalemate to Collett again and again, he could not seem to understand the difficulty. He insisted that the employes could invoke the wage stabilization board's jurisdiction without having a formal contract for more pay in their hands, and no amount of argument or citation of the law could convince him otherwise.

BUDGET The skimpy budget allocated to the foreign service division of the state department may explain why the United States turned is losing so many diplomatic battles in the post-war reconstruction era.

When Secretary of States James F. Byrnes first took office, he had elaborate ideas for reorganization of this venerable establishment. He requested the foreign experts to submit a confidential memorandum on their requirements at home and abroad.

They listed the need for higher salaries for ambassadors, ministers, consuls and their staffs. They asked for more facilities, greater working space, larger entertainment allowances. In all these respects some of the smallest nations allow more funds than Uncle Sam permits.

But Budget Director Harold D. Smith granted an increase of only $1,000,000 for the diplomatic family. State's veteran attaches cannot protest publicly, but they maintain that they could use to better advantage the $40,000,000 which Assistant Secretary Benton plans to spend on propaganda every 12 months.—Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Outlook for Metals Reviewed

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—Reporting on metal production during the past year and surveying the outlook for 1946, authorities writing in the February Engineering and Mining Journal say:

Silver

Production statistics covering world output of silver in the war years are not yet available. North and South America produced 127,300,000 fine ounces in 1945, as compared with 138,400,000 in 1944. Of this, the United States produced 28,300,000 in 1945 and 34,900,000 in 1944.

"The end of the war," according to the survey, "has brought changes in the conditions of the silver market and raised problems for the future, in which economic and political factors are mixed. Under war-time controls, the large treasury stock of silver proved useful to the United States and its allies. Now, with producers eager to increase the price and consumers desirous of holding it at the present level, there is danger that the controversy of the 1930's will be renewed.

"Demand for new subsidiary and minor coinage in the United States is likely to decline, as our present circulation of nearly $8 per capita should be ample unless there should be serious inflation. The domestic demand for industry and the arts has been of the order of 125 million ounces in line war years, and is likely to continue at comparable levels. New families will want table silver, the photographic industry, as in the past, will take large quantities, and many of the new war-time uses in solders, electrical contacts, bearings, etc., will be applied to the manufacture of civilian goods.

"The future of silver is dependent on varied factors, but both political and economic forces seem to be upward. On the other hand, any considerable increase above the present price might make it profitable to develop substitutes in some uses and so weaken the long-term position of the metal."

Lead

"Lead," the article points out, "is in the unenviable position of being one of the few commodities remaining under government control. After weathering several years of war in ample supply ,and pinch-hitting for other metals completely drafted for war, it now finds itself unable to meet the large reconversion demand, whereas its sister domestically mined metals have generally been freed of restrictions and are sufficiently plentiful to be used in reconstruction .

"This difficulty arises out of two circumstances: Mine production in the United States has declined sharply, due to labor shortage; and demand remains high because war-time and peace-time uses of the metal are largely the same.

"Domestic mine production is estimated at 385,000 short tons, the lowest since 1936, a depreion year. This compared with 416,861 in 1944; 453,313 in 1943; 496,289 in 1942; 461,426 in 1941; 457,392 in 1940; 413,979 in 1939; and 647,995 short tons in 1929.

"Lead enters the post-war era in strong position. Through force of economic events, assuming free enterprise returns and no price controls, there may anticipate an intensifed world-wide search for more lead, which, eventually, will help to relieve the current shortage. At the same time, a probable higher post-war price of lead may be expected to encourage the substitution of other metals or materials for lead and thereby also relieve pressure in the market for more lead."

Zinc

Asserting that the year 1945 probably will be considered one of the most unusual in the history of the zinc industry, Engineering and Mining Journal's authority says that although production continued throughout the 12 months at a fairly steady level, ranging between 60,000 and 70,000 tons per month, demand ran the gamut from a shortage of supplies in the early part of the year to a condition of relative abundance in the third quarter. Toward the end of the year, there were again indications of shortages in certain grades of metal.

"The outlook for zinc contains many uncertain factors which only time can resolve, even though the large backlog of unfilled needs points to a high level of consumption.

"Although shipments in the late months of the year declined considerably from the war-time peak ,they still were materially higher than had been anticipated, despite the depressive effect of strikes and threatened strikes in heavy industries.

"Another favorable factor was the evident intention of congress to create a strategic-material stockpile, thus immobilizing all or part of the large stocks of zinc metal and concentrates held by the government.

With so many doubtful elements entering into the picture ,a prediction of future zinc prices would be not more than a guess. All that may be said is that with the removal of premium payments, which eventually will be dropped, the price for zinc may rise above the present war-time ceiling, but it is probable, taking a longer-term view, that the price of zinc, which has advanced out of proportion to that of other non-ferrous metals, will be lower than at present, though not so low as the pre-war average."

Clayton Hopes to Have Full Crew

The crew of the Clayton Silver Mines property, which ,during the war sank from a normal of 50 to a low of eight men, now totals 25 and Byron Wilson, newly named manager, believes he will have a full crew by midsummer, according to W. M. Yeaman, Clayton president.

Plans for extensive development now are being put into effect, Yeaman said. These include diamond drilling.

Yeaman declared he was highly gratified by the progress made at the mine since the first of the year when Wilson became manager, and announced that Norman H .Smith of the Sunshine geological staff is now at the Clayton property assisting Wilson in geological work.

Yeaman said the "pay as you go" policy at the Clayton will be continued.

Sunshine Makes Annual Report

The Sunshine Mining company in 1945 earned a net profit of $804,050.02, with about one-third of the net income, prior to income tax deductions, coming from sources other than the Sunshine mine.

Work in the east part of the Chester vein, the report of R. D. Leisk, general manager, says, exposed an ore shoot on the 3700 level 950 feet long, of which 388 feet was in the Omega area and 562 feet in the Rotbart area. The average width was four feet and the average silver assay 64 ounces. The lead content ran less than one-half of one per cent.

The most important discovery of the year, he said, was the strike in the Chester vein north of the Jewel shaft, about 4000 feet west of previous work on this vein. Up to the end of the year a drift had been run 169 feet on the 3700 level, with the ore averaging 4.2 feet and running 47 ounces of silver and 22 per cent lead.

It also has been announced that the Sunshine's Yukon division is starting dredge operations on Big Gold creek in the Yukon territory. Church Holmes will be in charge. The operations are about 60 miles from Dawson.

Silver Dollar Reports Income

A net profit of $41,373.60 was earned by the Silver Dollar Mining company last year, officers report. Net profit in 1944 was about $10,000.

The annual meeting was held here this week, and all officers were re-elected. They are C. O. Dunlop, president; C. C. Anderson, vice president; W. T. Anderson, secretary-treasurer, and H. H. Carlson and Lawrence Howe, directors.

Net operating income was $88,854.87, according to Dunlop, and depletion amounted to $55,192.86. A total of 31,668 tons of ore was taken from the Rotbart area, which yielded 575,400 ounces of silver, 790,500 pounds of lead and 149,500 pounds of copper.

Dunlop reported the shaft being sunk by the company has reached the 2400 level and that a crosscut will be driven shortly to the Chester vein.

Idaho Solons to Fight for Silver

Idaho's congressional delegation will wage a determined fight to obtain a higher price for domestic silver, they report from Washington.

Congressman Compton I. White long has led the battle for the white metal. Congressman Henry Dworshak reports the house employed an unusual "rule" to permit insertion in the treasury appropriation bill of legislation authorizing the secretary of the treasury to sell government-owned silver at 71.11 cents per ounce. "The action by the house will force an early showdown in the other body," Dworshak reports, "and it is questionable whether the silver provision will be approved in its present form."

Senator Gossett has informed Idaho constituents he will oppose the house legislation.

Foundry Ships to Foreign Companies

The Coeur d'Alene Hardware and Foundry company has scheduled three big shipments of mine equipment to foreign points, it was announced yesterday.

Already shipped is a carload of 10 and 27 cubic foot side and end dump mine ore cars to the Silver Ridge Mining company at Sandon, B. C.

A carload of 10 to 40 cubic foot Ajax side dump cars is now being loaded for shipment to La Luz Mines, Ltd., in Nicaragua, and two carloads of spare mine car parts for Ajax side dump ore cars are being assembled for shipment to Patino Mines and Enterprise, Consolidated, Crura, Bolivia.

MAKES SHIPMENT

Lucky Friday Silver-Lead company will receive $18,350.96 from its latest shipment of ore, bringing to $206,531.79 the value of ore taken out by the company in the process of developing its property.

The annual meeting of the Idaho Mining association will be held in Boise April 5, 6 and 7.

Abandon Efforts to Rescue Coal Miners

HERFORD, Germany, Feb. 22. (AP)—British and German authorities abandoned rescue work at shattered Grimberg mine near Kamen today and said as many as 439 miners may have lost their lives in the explosion that occurred two days ago.

The decision that further rescue efforts were useless was reached at a meeting of the management, workers and mine inspectors at the pithead and work started immediately on sealing the shaft with cement.

Rescue workers had brought 59 out alive and recovered 14 bodies. There were 493 men in the mine at the time of the explosion, including three British coal experts.

Congress Hears Farewell Address

(By the Associated Press)

The nation observed George Washington's 214th birthday anniversary in traditional fashion today, with both houses of the national congress setting the pace by listening to a reading of the famous farewell address.

Directed "to the people of the United States," the address was delivered September 17, 1796, to announce that the nation's first president declined to be considered for a third term.

Again, as on each anniversary of his birth, these words of Washington sounded in the halls of congress:

"The unity of government which constitutes you one people, is also now dear to you. It is justly so; for it is a main pillar in the edifice of your real independence; the support of your tranquility at home; your peace abroad; of your safety; of your prosperity; of that very liberty which you so highly prize.

"Citizens by birth, or choice, of a common country, that country has a right to concentrate your affections. The name of American, which belongs to you in your national capacity, must always exalt the just pride of patriotism. . . . With slight shades of difference, you have the same religion, manners, habits and political principles. . . . Every portion of our country finds the most commanding motives for carefully guarding and preserving the union of the whole. . .

"It is important likewise, that the habits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution in those intrusted with its administration, to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres, avoiding in the exercise of the powers of one department, to encroach upon another. . .

"Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence, (I conjure you to believe me fellow citizens,) the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake; since history and experience prove, that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government. . .

"Harmony, and a liberal intercourse with all nations, are recommended by policy, humanity, and interest."
